An Open Invitation from Helen

We'd love to have members (and friends) visit our garden, which is looking its very best at present. We're especially delighted with our newly established berry garden where blueberries, raspberries, strawberries, grapes and red currants - protected from raiding birds! - have been added to the range of fresh fruit and veggies produced on our ¼ acre urban 'Pavlova paradise'. While we'd welcome visitors on an individual basis, we're rather keen to host groups as well.

If you'd like to gather a few members/friends together we could have (byo) refreshments under the trees, or even a pot-luck tea!

For people new to gardening - especially food growing - we could organise sessions on composting/worms/raised beds/propagating/seed-saving/crop rotation.... And visit to our place could double as an opportunity for some G$ trading.

Also, since we've employed Green Dollar members in many of our projects you and your friends could see some examples of what we've achieved through G$ trading over the past 18 years - which only hints at the wonderful social benefits of G$ membership!

But that's a story for another time!
